

Wrth siarad yn Senedd Cymru ddydd Mercher Mehefin 10, fe ddywedodd Prif Weinidog Cymru, Mark Drakeford:

Codwyd y mater hwnnw gennym ar 29 Ebrill yn y fforwm cymunedau ffydd, gydag arweinwyr cymunedau ffydd yng Nghymru, ynghylch ailagor lleoliadau ar gyfer gweddio'n breifat. Bryd hynny, y cyngor cadarn gan arweinwyr y cymunedau hynny oedd nad oedd yn ymarferol iddynt allu ailagor y lleoliadau hynny mewn ffordd ddiogel. Mynychais gyfarfod diwethaf y fforwm cymunedau ffydd yr wythnos diwethaf. Mae llawer iawn o waith wedi mynd rhagddo gan y cymunedau hynny i sicrhau eu bod mewn sefyllfa lle gallent bellach ailagor lleoliadau ar gyfer gweddio'n breifat. Gwnaeth yr holl bethau ymarferol roeddent wedi meddwl amdanynt ac roeddent yn eu rhoi ar waith gryn argraff arnaf, a byddwn yn ystyried hynny o ddirif wrth inni gyrraedd diwedd y cylch tair wythnos presennol. (Y Cofnod, para 110)

Ni ddisgwylir unrhyw gyhoeddiad tan ddydd Gwener Mehefin 19. Ond yn dilyn trafodaethau pellach fe gytunodd Llywodraeth Cymru y byddai'n briodol tynnu sylw y sawl sy'n gyfrifol am addoldai at nifer o ganllawiau sydd eisoes ar gael, a fyddai maes o law yn ddefnyddiol wrth drefnu ail-agor unwaith y caniateir hynny a phe byddent yn dymuno gwneud hynny. Ni fydd pob canllaw yn berthnasol i bob adeilad na sefyllfa, ond credwn y bydd meddu ar y rhestr hon yn caniatáu i reolwyr adeiladau ddechrau ar y gwaith rhagbaratoi pe dymument. Speaking in the Senedd on Wednesday June 10, First Minister Mark Drakeford said:

We raised the matter on 29 April in the faith communities forum, with leaders of faith communities in Wales, about the reopening of venues for private prayer. At that point, the firm advice from leaders of those communities was that it wasn't practical for them to be able to reopen those venues in a way that is safe. I attended the last meeting of the faith communities forum last week. An enormous amount of work has gone on by those communities to put themselves in a position where they could now potentially reopen venues for private prayer. I was very impressed by all the practical things that they had thought about and were putting into place and we will consider that very seriously as we move to the end of the current three-week cycle. (Cofnod 10.06.20 para 110)

No further announcement is expected until Friday June 19. But following further discussions, Welsh Government has agreed that it would be timely to draw the attention of those responsible for places of worship to guidance which is already in the Public domain, which in due course may be useful to those who wish to arrange the re-opening of places of worship, once that is permitted, and should they wish to do so. Not all guidance will be relevant to all buildings or situations, but we believe that being in possession of this information will allow building managers to begin preparatory work, if they so wish. This information may be circulated as you see fit.
